From the Race Director:

Congratulations to all the 2,649 official finishers in the 19th edition of the Summer Beaches Run. It was the largest field to date — allowing it to maintain its claim of being the world's largest beach run.

Special thanks to Gulf Life Insurance Company for their financial sponsorship and their continued role in the promotion of health and fitness in Jacksonville.

I would also like to thank Bill Trahan, Director of Parks and Recreation at Jacksonville Beach and his department for all the help they provided and the many workers who volunteered so much of their time to make the race such a success. Space prohibits listing the 100 plus volunteers but I would like to recognize and thank the officials who were in charge of the various aspects of the race.

Connie Cole — Race Packet pick-up at Gulf Life

Doug Alred — Finish line design and timing

Lamar Strother — Starting Area set-up

Tom Skordas — Results

Harvey Sher — Video Production

Clay McLeod — Entry Check-in and data entry

Skip Garver — Day of Race Registration

Jim Coovert — Computer Programming

T-Shirts are available until October 31 at either 1st Place Sports locations for day or race registrants. They have been mailed to out of town runners — if you have not received yours please let me know.

BEACH RUN '83

By David Whitley

It was all over, including the shouting, but Mike Wachholz had to see it for himself.

Two hours earlier a red and yellow blur romped by the mortified Wachholz, cancelling his appointment with the finish-line tape just one-half mile away.

Now, buoyed by an autopsy report showing he was still alive, Wachholz wormed his way through a mass of post-race partyers parked in front of a video screen. He wanted to relive his fate. Maybe it would be different the second time around.

"Gosh, I had a big lead," he lamented as the videotape jerkily rolled along. "There's almost no one else in sight."

Unfortunately for Wachholz, this wasn't a nuclear war or a drive-in movie. This was the Summer Beaches Run, and almost didn't count.

More than 2,700 of you crazy people massed earlier in the day for 1983's version of the world's largest outdoor sauna party. Knowing the annual sweatathon didn't need any foreign glitter, race director Jane Ryan wisely spent most of her budget on awards and kegs rather than runners. A strong array of local talent made a competitive race a certainty, anyway.

Many picked Bill "No, I do not take steroids" Fisher to win. Fisher, who undoubtedly is the fastest all girls school math teacher in the country, ran away with the 1982 Winter Beaches Run, the eskimo cousin to the summer event. There was Wachholz, of course, himself no threat to ever gain employment as a bouncer. Wachholz, who attacks running the same way G. Gordon Liddy goes for an open flame, looked ready for a big race. He'd taken up tennis during the summer to augment his beach run training, and there were tennis balls scattered all over the westside of Jacksonville to prove his dedication to the task. Wachholz figured even if he didn't win the beach run, at least he'd have a better backhand than whoever did.

Mike Yarbrough, ex-FSU, LSU, from FJC by way of Mars runner, figured to be in the hunt as long as he remembered to show up and run south when the gun went off. Yarbrough sounded ready to win. "I've been training on the dunes, running barefoot on rattlesnakes." Whatever. His neon-blue shorts with orange orchids made him a favorite with the fashion crowd, anyway.

The dark horse among the group was Danny Clay, who had to be considered dangerous seeing how he would be running his first beach run without five pounds of wire wrapped around his teeth. No one knew what kind of shape Clay was in, but, "at least we can count on a fast first mile with Danny running," Fisher said.

Another unknown was Mabry McCray, the answer to the proverbial question, "Who in the world ever came from Mayo?" The obviously relaxed state of affairs around downtown Mayo helped mold McCray's easy-going, "Aw, shucks" outlook toward things. Once the race started, many spectators thought he wasn't registered because he didn't have a large "seeded" number. He just showed up a few minutes before the start. "That's the way I always do it," he said. No one was too surprised to see him, though, he usually lends his presence to the Jacksonville racing scene for this one race every year. He makes it count, too, having won the 1980 race and always placing high in the standings. Almost always, that is. "Last year my contact lens got out of place after a mile and I ran the race with one eye." He finished a disappointing (for him) 10th.

There were also a few out of town studs like Randy Stroud from Atlanta and Alan Baigent from Toronto who posed serious threats to win. Perhaps the longest shot to win it was 40-year-old Jim Deupree, number 089956 in your program but number one in your hearts.

Deupree is a prisoner at the New River Annex in Lake Butler. He escapes, mentally at least, by running. Deupree sent a letter to Ryan asking if he and two of his fellow inmates could participate in the beach run, sort of. They would run five miles at 6:30 p.m., record their times, and send them in. All Deupree and the others wanted was a break on the entry fee. "Due to my present predicament I have no money to speak of," he wrote. Soft Touch Ryan aided and abetted, saying the three could count in the official results. She didn't say what she'd do if one of them ran a winning time.

Notably absent from the race was 1981 beach run champ John Rogerson. Rogerson was nursing a bum hip and a sore elbow. The hip he got running, the elbow he developed while hoisting cool ones at his "I'm out of the Navy" party. Another no-show was the always dangerous Clay McLeod, past winner of the prestigious Skunk Run. McLeod had to pass up this year's race after coming down with a severe case of Alreditis, a mysterious strain of muscle failure developed by training 500 miles a week.

Lined up behind the favorites were dozens of people aiming to break 30 minutes for the race, hundreds aiming to break 35 minutes and maybe another 1,000 wanting to break 45 minutes. The rest were just hoping to finish before aerosol spray from billions of deodorant cans clogs the O-zone to where the sun's rays can't escape, melting the polar ice caps and causing the sea level to rise and obliterate them.

By 6:33 p.m. everyone was in place and off went the cannon. After the initial mad dash, order was restored with about a dozen runners forming the lead pack. They hit the first mile in 4:45, which is where Wachholz took command, running a 4:49 second mile to string out the pack. For the next three miles Wachholz was the loneliest man on the beach.

Was Wachholz running over his head? His fading pursuers could only scratch theirs and wonder: Had he really been running five miles every day in a pair of sweats on the roof of the Independent Life building during his lunch break? Had he received a transfusion of John Rogerson's (Bud Light-positive) blood? Could it possibly be the tennis? Whatever his secret was, he was on the verge of turning the race into a joke.

McCray, who is a soil science major at the University of Florida, was the only man who had a prayer of catching Wachholz. It didn't take a dirt expert to know the sand on which he'd have to make up the ground was not up to par, though. Some stretches were more like Normandy Beach on D-Day than Jax Beach on a lazy August afternoon. "The sand did seem softer," McCray said. "We had to keep running around bad spots." It was as if someone had vandalized five miles of beach, leaving ruts and puddles every few hundred yards. "I kept having to make little long jumps every 100 yards," Wachholz said. This definitely was not the same beach Ken Misner set a beach run record of 23:26 on.

At about four miles it was now-or-never time for McCray. "He was so far ahead I knew I had to get up there," said McCray. "I was not confident I could catch him." But Wachholz, who had built a 40 yard lead, was equally unsure he could hold off McCray. The $64,000 question became: Would 40 yards be enough?

Heck no.

McCray, you see, has a 4:03 mile to his credit. Wachholz ran his best mile, about a 4:10, when FJC track coach Larry Monts strung him behind a van one day and yelled "Hold on." The difference in foot speed began to tell. "Every time I turned around he was getting closer," Wachholz said. "First it was 40 yards, then 30, then 20, then I turned around and went, 'Oh, no.'"

In less time than it takes to say "Eat my dust!" McCray, contacts firmly in place, blew by a crestfallen Wachholz. "I knew he was putting out. He was really gritting his teeth when he came by," Wachholz said. "I was doing all I could to keep that pace up. We just needed to have a 4½ mile race." McCray chugged in as the clock hit 24:34. Wachholz hung on to run 24:44, both fine times considering the conditions. Jane Millsbaugh, a 35-going-on-23-year-old from Oakland Park, crossed the finish line roughly six minutes later to win the women's division.

"When I registered I certainly didn't expect to win," she said of her first summer beach run. "I wanted to break 30 minutes, but I died the last two miles. It was a little warm but it was fun."

Nobody knew it at the time, but one of the better races had been run by Glen Kemp, one of the proxy runners at the New River Annex. Kemp sent in a time of 28:03 for five miles, not bad considering he probably did it in shackles. Deupree was edged by Dennis Lynch, 39:57 to 40:10.

The day after the race, it was time for reflection. McCray was back in Gainesville being his low-key self. Ryan was soaking the fingers she blistered counting entry form money. Deupree was back in his cell counting days. Miller Lite was calling in an extra shift to make up for the shortage caused by the post-run party. And Wachholz, after running 25 punishing miles earlier in the day, was out spraying balls around a tennis court. Next year he plans to have a better serve than the winner.
